Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sperry et al. (US 6,253,919) in view of Hollingsworth et al. (US 6,334,534). Sperry et al. discloses a box with an inflatable cushion 10, 450,510. The inflatable cushion has a valve that connects the outside of the box through a hollow lumen. The hollow lumen is the portion on the top half of element 16. The filling medium is air. Sperry et al. disclose generally all of the elements of claims, but does not show the attachment means. However, Hollingsworth et al. suggests, for example, a cushion with fastener elements 52 to attach the cushion to the interior surface of a case. It would therefore have been an obvious modification in view of Hollingsworth to provide the fastener members for the inflatable packing material to attach the packing material to an interior surface of the container to prevent unwanted movement.
